

This is about as stupid as it gets. So when do outlaw programming and software development? Let's see if we can completely castrate Silicon Valley. With rules like this the whole pc/internet revolution would never have happened. Are you guys in the cartel support business.